NOTICE TO AIRMEN
PACIFIC AVIATION MUSEUM PEARL HARBOR • FORD ISLAND, HI

Some Enchanted Evening

Mark your calendars for December 5, 2013, as our 7th Anniversary Dinner Gala promises to be an evening to remember. From the moment you arrive, you'll feel as though you stepped back in time to Bali Hai, circa 1950s. Grab a cocktail and peruse the amazing items available at the silent auction table. Then, make your way over to the buffet and feast on an expertly prepared assortment of South Pacific-themed dishes. Finally, sit back, relax, and enjoy the entertainment by Loretta Ables Sayre, star of the hit Broadway musical, "South Pacific."

This is the perfect time to catch up with old friends, meet new ones, and get to know the folks who help make Pacific Aviation Museum Pearl Harbor one of the top aviation museums in the country. Emceed by Dan Cooke, the event will help raise funds for our Education and Restoration projects.

What: "Some Enchanted Evening"
7th Anniversary Dinner Gala

When: Thursday, December 5, 2013
5:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Where: Pacific Aviation Museum Pearl Harbor
Hangar 37, Historic Ford Island
319 Lexington Boulevard

RSVP: By November 16, 2013

Special Awards Of The Evening

The Building Bridges Award

This award celebrates an organization that has advanced our mission of building bridges between our community and our military.

Recipient: Navy League of the United States, Honolulu Council
The Navy League works tirelessly to support programs that foster a positive and productive relationship between the Navy and our Hawaii community. The Navy League is a 100% civilian organization dedicated to the mission of educating our citizens on the importance of naval strength to support our national security, economy, and the men and women of the sea services and their families.

Science, Technology, Engineering & Math (S.T.E.M.) Award

This award recognizes outstanding achievement in the area of S.T.E.M. education — an area supported by our Museum's educational outreach programs.

Recipient: Challenger Center Hawaii

Challenger Center Hawaii is a hands-on facility, where students and teachers work to solve real-life problems during a space flight simulation. Challenger Center is part of an international network of 48 learning centers that was established in memory of the Space Shuttle Challenger crew, one of them being Hawaii's own Ellison Onizuka.

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR'S REPORT

This has been the busiest summer in our Museum's brief history. All of our departments had tremendous achievements. A special "thank you" for a job well done to all of our staff and volunteers.

This summer, we welcomed visitors from all around the world. They brought an excitement to the galleries as they explored our aircraft and exhibits. Each of them contributed to our growth, which increased an average of 22% over the summer of 2012. This has been an amazing feat.

Three new aircraft recently arrived at our Museum, and three more are due to arrive in the next few weeks. The Boeing B-17E Flying Fortress, "Swamp Ghost," is currently laid out as one might have seen it from the air in the high grass of Papua New Guinea. With the addition of Jim Martinelli as our new Restoration Manager, we are assessing the condition of the aircraft as we make plans for rebuilding this historic warbird. I'm pleased to announce that our "Buy a Brick" fundraising program is underway with details posted on our website. Another historic aircraft, the Royal Australian Air Force F-III, is also now on the ground and ready for dedication in November.

Finally, we've been busy planning our 7th Anniversary Dinner Gala. Ruth Limtiaco has volunteered to be the Board Chair for the event, which will have a 1950s South Pacific theme. At the event, we will recognize the Honolulu Council of the Navy League as our Building Bridges Award recipient, and the Challenger Center Hawaii as our S.T.E.M. Award recipient. Dan Cooke will emcee the event, which will feature a fabulous dinner and entertainment by Loretta Ables Sayre, star of the hit Broadway musical, "South Pacific." Please mark your calendar for Thursday, December 5th, as another night to remember at Pacific Aviation Museum Pearl Harbor. Thank you for your continued support.

Aloha

Ken DeHoff

MAHALO, VOLUNTEERS!

Alexander "Sandy" Gaston's support is evident in all corners of Pacific Aviation Museum Pearl Harbor. As a donor, Sandy contributed priceless articles to the Jimmy Doolittle exhibit. As a volunteer, he collected tens of thousands of dollars by engaging visitors at the front lobby desk. He was among the first to sign up for our Planned Giving program. Year after year, Sandy has been a loyal supporter of our Anniversary Dinner Gala, always the first to snap up a table. Having left the U.S. Navy 43 years ago, Sandy has remained a true patriot, supporting numerous causes, veteran organizations, memorials, and museums dedicated to U.S. history. He was also among the first donors to help bring the Battleship Missouri to Pearl Harbor from Bremerton, Washington in 1998. We couldn't be more proud to welcome honorary "Admiral" Sandy Gaston to our Museum's Board of Directors. Thank you, Sandy, for all that you do!

FROM THE CURATOR

Welcome, Jim Martinelli!

Our new Restoration Manager, Jim Martinelli, never had any doubt about a career choice the day after he graduated from his Sonora, CA high school, he packed his bags and moved into a hangar. Entranced by the powerful war birds of World War II, Jim apprenticed as an aircraft mechanic and student pilot, eventually becoming the go-to guy to both maintain and fly iconic airplanes, such as the P-51 Mustang, the MiG-21, the Spitfire, and the T-6 Texan.

Jim comes to us from Paul Allen's Flying Heritage Collection near Seattle, where he was Project Manager, restoring and flying a wide variety of aircraft, including the notoriously dodgy Il-2 Sturmovik. Previously, he was with the Historic Flight Foundation at Paine Field, WA, and the Classic Fighters Museum in Minden, NV, and currently has nearly 5,000 stick hours in war birds and experimental-rated aircraft.

Jim is married to a pilot and is father to two young boys, who hold air shows in the family living room. The Martinellis believe Hawaii is a good place to raise their children, and are excited to be part of the Pacific Aviation Museum family.

Under Jim's expert guidance and thanks to the generosity of the Basis Foundation, the Lt. Ted Shealy Restoration Shop will initially focus on getting reorganized and modernized, then will tackle the half-dozen aircraft projects on the plate. First up is our C-47, nicknamed Pel, which served with the 40th Troop Carrier Group in the Southwest Pacific during World War II. Pel will be taken back to her 1944 markings and structure. To complete this project, we are in need of a couple of P&W 1830 engines. Please contact curator@pacificaviationmuseum.org to help us complete this restoration.

EDUCATION CORNER

The Museum has been buzzing with activities this summer. Our historic hangars not only preserve the stories of the past, they're also a place to explore and dream about the future of aviation for visitors of all ages.

In May, we hosted the Hawaii premiere of "Honor Flight – One Last Mission," a feature-length documentary honoring veterans of WWII. Jonathan Parshall, co-author of "Shattered Sword," visited in June as part of our annual Battle of Midway Commemoration.

Our summer season of Flight School 2013 proved to be a rousing success. Flight School is a 3-day adventure in the history and technology of aviation, and this year, 161 middle-school boys and girls participated in our programs. Over 100 dedicated volunteers and interested community members contributed 2,000 hours of instruction, mentorship, and program support. "Mahalo nui loa" to our volunteers and donors who made this opportunity possible for Hawaii's youth.

Our first Living History Day on August 10th transformed our hangars into fun-filled learning spaces. Costumed re-enactors, student historic exhibits, scavenger hunts, and open cockpits gave visitors new insights into the importance of aviation to our community and our world. Once again, an outstanding team of volunteers created a memorable event that highlighted the tremendous assets of our Museum.

LT. TED SHEALY'S RESTORATION SHOP

As you walk into Pacific Aviation Museum Pearl Harbor's Hangar 79, you will see on the northeast end, a sign that reads, "Lt. Ted Shealy's Restoration Shop – In memory of those whose heroism, innovation, aggressiveness, and skill kept the planes flying, no matter the conditions, whatever the tide of battle. Aviation maintenance personnel helped preserve freedom and democracy, playing a critical role in the Pacific Campaign of WWII and other conflicts."

The newly refurbished restoration facility was appropriately named "Lt. Ted Shealy's Restoration Shop" by Michael and Carol Shealy in honor of their father, Lt. Tirey David "Ted" Shealy, USN 1917 – 1980. Its historical presence from 1938 – 1955 was used during World War II as a maintenance and engine repair facility, filled with fighters, bombers, and patrol aircraft that were based in Pearl Harbor or transiting throughout the Pacific Theater.

The Shealy's continue to support the work in the restoration shop and recently made a generous donation to purchase a painting curtain and hardware, which will enable us to paint full-size aircraft authentically and safely. The restoration crew and volunteers will wear the "Lt. Ted Shealy Restoration Shop" logo on their work uniforms with pride. The heritage and tradition of restoring aircraft lives on in Hangar 79.

VOLUNTEER OF THE YEAR JOHN T STERLING AWARD

Each year, we honor our volunteers by choosing someone who has been exceptional in his/her volunteer efforts. Without the strong support of our volunteers, our Museum could not have made the significant strides it has since its inception.

Jan Okami

Our Hangar 37 Volunteer of the Year award goes to Jan Okami. Jan has put in countless hours of hard work and dedication, with much of it behind the scenes. She helps support all the departments with a vast array of tasks, from manning registration tables at events, sending out donations to school groups, and, when needed, covering the desk in Hangar 79. And, she does it all with a smile. Jan has donated over 7,000 hours of service to the Museum. Congratulations, Jan!

Jan Okami

Arnold Kanehiro

We are proud to present this year's Hangar 79 Volunteer of the Year award to Arnold Kanehiro. Arnold is noted for his exceptional restoration and painting skills. He has helped keep things moving in the restoration shop with a "can do" attitude and willingness to mentor others. He is a founding volunteer, who has logged over 4,000 hours at our Museum. Congratulations, Arnold!

We would like to commend all of our volunteers and express a sincere "thank you" for all they do for Pacific Aviation Museum Pearl Harbor.

Our hand-painted mahogany models make great retirement or executive gifts, and we can always package and ship your items anywhere in the world. And, don't forget your purchases support the mission of Pacific Aviation Museum Pearl Harbor!

THE MAGIC OF MARKETING

When you wish upon a star, great things happen. We asked and were granted permission to partner with Disney® to help launch their new animated movie PLANES on August 6, in a special preview screening of the film at Honolulu's Ward Center Consolidated Theatre complex.

We manned and womaned a booth at the event where we passed out our free "Traveling P-40" magnets, had enter to wins, promoted our family passes and membership, and our event, volunteer and donor opportunities.

As a result, Disney provided the Museum with their educational materials to use in our Education department and in our Museum Store. They also screened our 90-second extended video in the theatres before the screening of PLANES. So, we had a big presence at the premiere.

We also produced an online promotion for Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, Pinterest, and our website for fans and followers to enter to "Win PLANES" tickets and a snack party package for 4 for opening night of the movie's release. It was cost efficient and received amazing response with over 50,000 seeing the ad and sharing the enter to win with their friends.

It was a successful partnership and a good connection for the Museum and we look forward to doing more promotions with Disney® in the future. We invite you to follow us on Facebook, Twitter, and YouTube.

HANGAR TALK

Join us for our November 30th Hangar Talk as author Rob Simbeck talks about his book, "Daughter of the Air: The Brief Soaring Life of Cornelia Fort." He will share the story of aviation pioneer Cornelia Fort, a pilot in the Women's Auxiliary Ferrying Squadron. She trained and earned her pilot's license in Hawaii, and became a civilian pilot instructor on Oahu. Fort was in the skies above Pearl Harbor on the morning of December 7, 1941.
